Dear Judge Yeakel:

I would like to encourage you to consider a stay of execution and a retrial for Rodney Reed.

Based upon the brief filed by the former and current law enforcement officers, I feel that a stay is in order. As a citizen of the state of Texas, I believe that no person should be executed when there remains a doubt of their guilt. The Court and a jury should hear evidence from DNA done on the murder weapon—as I understand it, the weapon has been mishandled, but if Mr. Reed's DNA is not on it, that would strongly, if not complete, prove that he did not commit the crime.

We as a people need to be sure that this man is guilty before we take his life.

Sincerely,

Meredith Nunis
